THAME - A MIDSOMER MARKET TOWN

THAME - A MIDSOMER MARKET TOWN

Thame is one of the most filmed locations in the fictional Midsomer County for the popular ITV series, Midsomer Murders. As a thriving Oxfordshire market town set at the foot of the Chiltern Hills, Thame has much to attract visitors who come to see places featured in the TV series.

Thame is an award-winning town. It has won awards as a Rising Star and Finalist in the Great British High Street Competition and was more recently shortlisted in the Visa-sponsored Talk of the Town Awards. The town also gained second place in the Royal Town Planning Institute's England's Greatest Places Competition.

Thame was thought to be Anglo-Saxon in origin, but in 2015 archaeologists made the major discovery of an early Neolithic enclosure in the town, dating from nearly six thousand years ago. There is also evidence of Iron Age and Roman settlements.

Thame has developed its own individual character whilst preserving its rich history. Ancient medieval buildings stand alongside Georgian and Victorian architecture and the iconic boat-shaped High Street stands as testimony to the marketplace for which it was originally designed. Thame still hosts a popular weekly market, which has been trading continuously for 800 years, as well as a regular farmers' market.

Visitors can follow Thame's own Midsomer Walking Trail, and the town is also an ideal base for enjoyable excursions to the many picturesque villages in the local area, featured in episodes of Midsomer Murders.

Thame is perfectly situated close to the Chilterns Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty. Visitors can follow many public footpaths through the Chiltern Hills, including the Ridgeway Path and Oxfordshire Way, where superb views of the surrounding area can be enjoyed.

Thame has an active calendar of events hosted by local organisations through the year, including The Players Theatre (thameplayers.co.uk) in Nelson Street, off Upper High Street, presents live theatre and cinema throughout the year and Thame Museum (thamemuseum.org) holds regular exhibitions. THAME AND ITS MIDSOMER MURDERS FILMING LOCATIONS

MIDSOMER WALKING TRAIL OF THAME TOWN CENTRE

Midsomer Murders is based on the novels of Caroline Graham. The original pilot programme, The Killings at Badgers Drift, was aired on 23rd March 1997 and the four episodes of the first full series in 1998, Written in Blood, Death of a Hollow Man, Faithful Unto Death and Death in Disguise, were based on her books. Elizabeth Spriggs was a leading actor in the first episode and is buried in St Mary's Churchyard, Thame.

There have now been well over 130 episodes. John Nettles played DCI Barnaby for the first 81 episodes, stepping down in 2011 at the end of series 13. Neil Dudgeon has played Barnaby ever since. Thame has featured in 16 episodes, in some briefly but in others, such as Picture of Innocence, Midsomer Life and Vixen's Run, it features heavily. Thame's Midsomer Walking Tour was featured in the ITV documentary Midsomer Murders: 25 Years of Mayhem, broadcast in 2022.

The walking trail takes up to 90 minutes and features every location used in the town centre. The suggested starting point is Thame Town Hall.

1 THAME TOWN HALL

As you walk along the High Street, you will see a large red brick building facing you - Thame Town Hall. In Days of Misrule it appears in the Christmas scene, with Joyce Barnaby singing carols round the Christmas tree outside Causton Town Hall. The Town Hall was again used as Causton Town Hall in Shot at Dawn and Not in My Back Yard and as Causton Arts Centre in The Maid in Splendour. Across from the Town Hall, Connells Estate Agents appears as Causton Bookies in a sub-plot of Days of Misrule.

There has been a building on the site of the Town Hall since 1509. The current building was built in 1887, using local brick, to celebrate Queen Victoria's Golden Jubilee.

Looking to the left you will see -

2 TIM RUSS / FORMER GATWARD JEWELLERS

In The House in the Woods Tim Russ & Company Estate Agents became Harriet Davis' Estate Agency. Harriet Davis is involved in a plot to acquire a derelict building in the woods. However, it doesn't end well for Harriet. Next door to Tim Russ is the former Gatward Jewellers used in Dead in the Water.

To the left of the Town Hall is Buttermarket, a pedestrian street.

3 BUTTERMARKET

This pedestrian street appears in many episodes. In the opening of Vixen's Run, it is dressed for the 1953 Coronation. A woman is seen riding a horse along the road. She is on her way to meet a lover. In Picture of Innocence Buttermarket becomes a street market where Barnaby is kissed by a complete stranger - this incident is photographed, and the picture develops as a plot line. In Midsomer Life, a tipsy barmaid from the Morecroft Hotel (the Spread Eagle) is seen staggering along Buttermarket. In Dead in the Water, Jones and Barnaby take coffee with Hattie Trent at the end of Pump Lane.

4 3 BUTTERMARKET (Formerly the Coffee House)

In Picture of Innocence, Barnaby is sitting in the (former) Coffee House looking at the picture of him kissing a woman. He notices faintly in the background the sign on the health food shop called Now and Zen - actually the side entrance to what is now the White Stuff clothes shop.

5 PRETTY LIKE PICTURES

At the top of Buttermarket, Pretty Like Pictures appears in Picture of Innocence as Quikpix, the digital photography shop and major rival to Madrigal's camera shop. Jones talks to the owner about photographs of a glamour model.

Cross the road by the zebra crossing and go left for a few yards until you reach the double-gated entrance to 61a North Street (privately owned)

6 61a NORTH STREET

The interior of these gated premises features as a printing shop in Blood Wedding. Barnaby has forgotten to pick up the order of service cards for his daughter's wedding. The shop is closed and Jones tries to force entry with a credit card.

Now walk back to Montesson Square and Market House

7 MONTESSON SQUARE

Montesson Square features in a panoramic shot during the title sequence at the start of Picture of Innocence, ending outside Madrigal's camera shop - now Rumsey's Chocolaterie.

8 MARKET HOUSE - MONTESSON SQUARE

Market House became the offices of the local magazine, Midsomer Life, in the episode of that name. When the murderer was arrested, she was led from the building via what are in real life the public toilets. In Vixen's Run, Market House was Causton Library.

Built in the eighteenth century, Market House has, over the years, been a baker's shop, an inn, and a Methodist chapel. Market House today houses Citizens' Advice as well as the public toilets.

9 RUMSEY'S CHOCOLATERIE

In Picture of Innocence, Madrigal's camera shop was what is now Rumsey's Chocolaterie. At the time of filming, the shop was empty: having been Jordan's Delicatessen it was to become Rumsey's. Madrigal's was a traditional photographic shop in the village of Luxton Deeping, and the owners were bitter rivals of Quikpix, a digital camera shop in a neighbouring village.

10 JORDAN'S YARD

In Vixen's Run, Barnaby is seen turning into Jordan's Yard to visit a solicitor's office. The woman who was riding along Buttermarket goes to see the solicitor regarding her late husband's estate. There is a break-in at these offices and, later still, the solicitor dies in a fire at his cottage.

11 THE SWAN HOTEL

In Vixen's Run, Lucinda and Simon are staying at the Swan. They are trying to find clues regarding Lucinda's father's estate and later go into Causton Library (Market House) for information. The clues are found in an edition of Rupert Brooke's Collected Poems.

The Swan Hotel (currently closed) dates from the fifteenth century. The frontage was later altered to become the present Georgian façade. Inside this Grade 2 listed building there is a sixteenth-century painted ceiling.

12 10 UPPER HIGH STREET (YOUR DENTIST IN THAME)

Featuring as Causton Chemists in Vixen's Run, Barnaby is seen leaving this shop after going in to get some tablets for his indigestion. Outside, he has a conversation with the pathologist, George Bullard, about whether Sir Freddy Butler really died of natural causes.

13 15 UPPER HIGH STREET

This is Lionel Bell's house in Picture of Innocence. Lionel is murdered and Barnaby is seen in conversation with the postman outside the front door. Later, Lionel's daughter, Philomena, the new owner who has put it up for sale, is seen leaving the house whilst in conversation with Barnaby and his wife, Joyce. (Privately owned property)

Walk to the end of the car park and look across the road into the courtyard of 34 Upper High Street on the opposite side of the road

14 COURTYARD, 34 UPPER HIGH STREET

This courtyard (belonging to the offices of CarmichaelUK) has featured twice as an undertakers. In Things That Go Bump in the Night it was Pennyman's. In Vixen's Run it was Cook's.

Now walk back towards the Town Hall, staying on the car park side of the road

15 THE BLACK HORSE

This pub and brasserie featured in Death in the Slow Lane. It was Neil Dudgeon's first episode as DCI Barnaby and he decides to visit a local Causton pub. He is seen approaching it and standing at the bar chatting with the barman and one of the locals.

Cross the road into Cornmarket

16 OXFAM BOOKSHOP

This was the Cover to Cover Bookshop in Vixen's Run. It was managed by Jenny, thought erroneously to be the love child of Sir Freddy Butler who dies early in the episode. Before he passed away, he set her up in Cover to Cover, now the Oxfam Bookshop.

17 THE SPREAD EAGLE HOTEL

The Spread Eagle became the Morecroft Hotel in Midsomer Life. It also featured in Vixen's Run, being used for the interior shots of the Swan Hotel, where Lucinda and Simon were staying.

The Grade 2 listed hotel dates to the Georgian period. Between 1922 and 1932, John Fothergill, legendary innkeeper, chef and wine connoisseur, made it the place to stay and dine in the UK. Outside, it is instantly recognisable by the 30th original sign depicting the Spread Eagle crest.

18 OXFAM SHOP

The Oxfam Shop appeared as another charity shop in They Seek Him Here, which revolves around a remake of The Scarlet Pimpernel. In this episode the shop was raising funds for a hospice.

19 CHANCELLORS ESTATE AGENTS

Chancellors Estate Agents was used as the offices of the Causton Advertiser in Last Year's Model.

Walk on past the Town Hall and beyond the car park

20 WILLS & TRUSTS, 91-92 HIGH STREET

The offices of Wills & Trusts (next to the Book House) were used as a solicitor's offices in The Oblong Murders.

Continue walking along the High Street and cross Bell Lane until you come to Thame Museum

21 THAME MUSEUM

Thame Museum was used for the interior scenes at Causton Museum in Secrets and Spies. An object, an animal's skull, is suspected as the murder weapon (not one of the museum's exhibits!). Causton Museum is broken into and is investigated by DC Jones who flirts with the Curator, Amanda Watson.

Thame Museum was originally built in 1864 as the County Court House. It was converted into a magistrate's court in 1984 and finally became the town's museum in 2005.

Turn right from the Museum and walk until you come to the T-junction. Turn right into Priest End

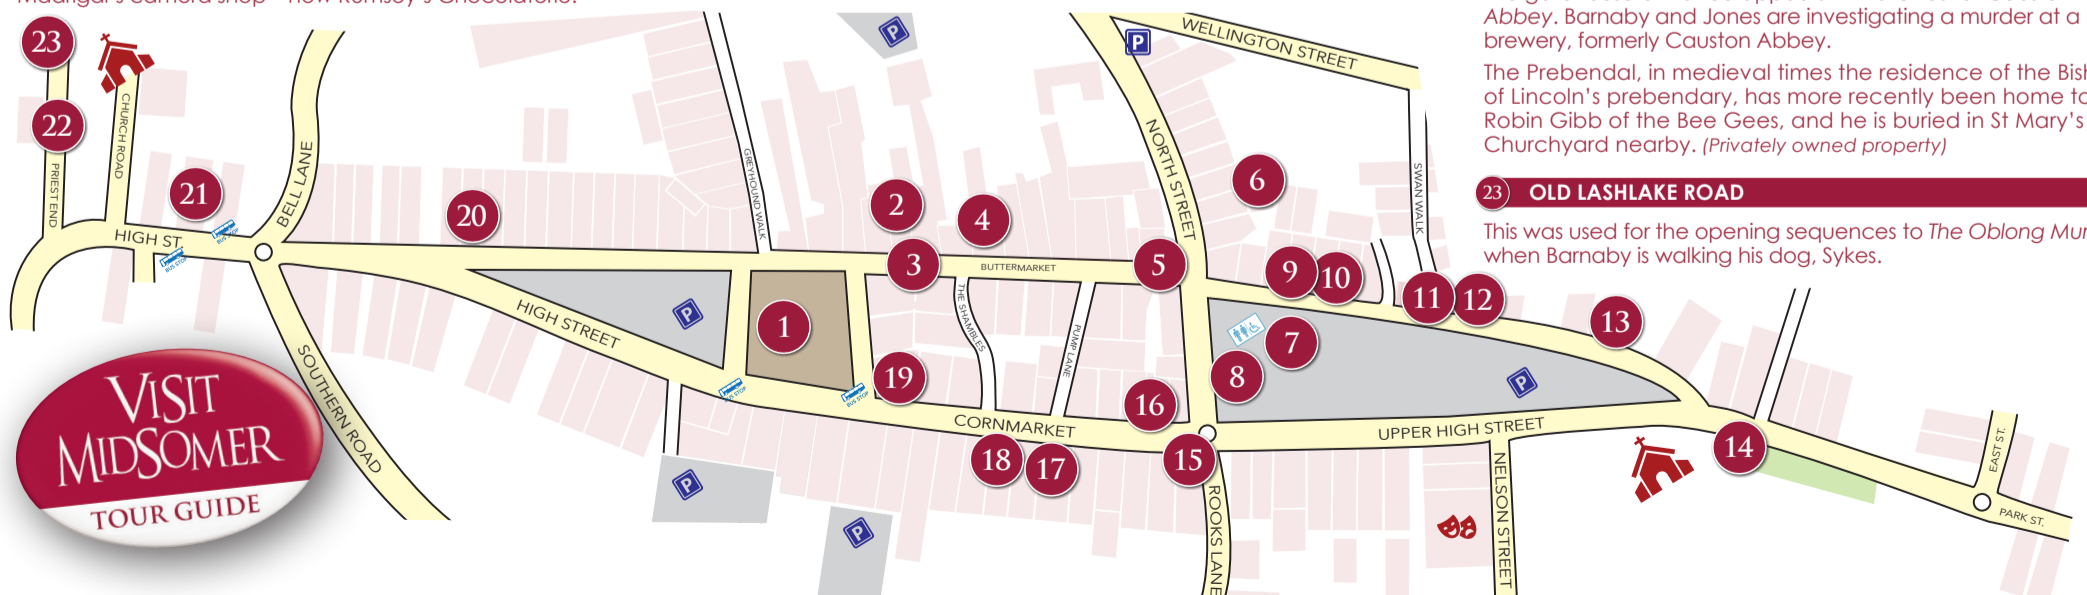

22 THE PREBENDAL

The gatehouse entrance appears in The Ghost of Causton Abbey. Barnaby and Jones are investigating a murder at a brewery, formerly Causton Abbey.

The Prebendal, in medieval times the residence of the Bishop of Lincoln's prebendary, has more recently been home to Robin Gibb of the Bee Gees, and he is buried in St Mary's Churchyard nearby. (Privately owned property)

23 OLD LASHLAKE ROAD

This was used for the opening sequences to The Oblong Murders, when Barnaby is walking his dog, Sykes.
